Pediatric nurses work in doctor’s offices, clinics, hospitals, surgical centers and other health care settings. Their skills bring particular comfort to children being treated in acute care departments, such as the neonatal unit, pediatric critical care unit, and other environments where children are treated for complex illnesses.

Health practitioners promote service satisfaction and self-assurance by maintaining a familial bond during pediatric treatment with a value system called family centered care. Providers and organizations adopting this philosophy promote emotional, physical, and psychological health among children during treatment. Pediatric nursing and child health care focus on the development of the whole child in all settings, including home care.

FCC means that the clinician incorporates into caregiving the knowledge and conviction that family is the constant in children’s lives, children are affected by and affect family, and peace.
